The "creepo" who agreed to pick up Mel Smith about a month ago from a Midtown bar probably never got a chance to put her location into the Uber app.

"I always look at the picture," Smith said of the photo that pops up when she requests a ride via Uber, which connects drivers with passengers looking for a lift.

Smith canceled the ride quickly enough that she didn't have to pay. She waited a few minutes, opened the app and requested a ride again. This time Smith got a driver more to her liking - a woman - and made it safely to her Washington Avenue apartment.

Like thousands of others who hop into cars with Uber's "driver partners" every day around the country, Smith was entering an emerging realm characterized not just by changing technology, but by challenges to traditional notions of the role of government in regulating consumer services like paid rides. Surging demand is outpacing enforcement as questions arise about the adequacy of company oversight, and Uber clashes with regulators in city after city.

With the new, smartphone-based services, drivers and passengers said, the relationship between the person behind the wheel and the person paying for the trip is unique: "It's just you and them," one driver said, asking not to be identified. "That's a big level of trust."

Accommodating the model of Uber and competitors such as Lyft is proving to be a tumultuous process for state and local governments, experts say.

"It is a disruptive technology and we are in a period in which we are trying to examine how these companies should be regulated," said Janice Griffith, a law professor at Suffolk University in Boston.

The companies' disputes with officials in many cities and states - including Houston, San Antonio and Texas - focus on how best to regulate a new way of providing paid rides. For example, the companies have pressed for their type of background check, which relies on Social Security information, while some cities demand a fingerprint-based system.

"If they would just start doing that, it would solve a lot of the issues," said Jeanne Christensen, a partner at the New York law firm Wigdor LLP. The firm represents women who say they were assaulted by Uber drivers in Boston, Detroit and New Delhi.

More scrutiny urged

The debate heated up in Houston and Austin last week after a Houston driver, Duncan Eric Burton, was charged April 1 with sexually abusing a drunken female passenger he took to his apartment. After Burton's arrest, city officials were angered because he never sought a city-issued permit allowing him to operate as a so-called transportation network company driver, yet still was allowed on Uber's online platform.

Passenger safety is a key issue in the discussions of how best to regulate the new paid-ride companies.

"I think societies make decisions about where they want to put extra filters on," said Deborah Hersman, president of the nonprofit National Safety Council. "School bus drivers face greater scrutiny, for example."

Truck drivers and drivers for public transit agencies also undergo fingerprint background checks, Hersman said, because of a consensus that is in everyone's best interest to screen them more thoroughly.

Christensen said repeated incidents have demonstrated that the less expensive background check used by Uber puts riders at risk.

"Everyone likes the service, the concept is great, but it is not working out great," she said, adding that additional checks and in-person interviews of drivers would probably ward off some less-desirable applicants and give the company more scrutiny of its drivers.

Local officials in many cities agree. During a December news conference announcing a consumer protection lawsuit filed by district attorneys in San Francisco and Los Angeles, San Francisco District Attorney George Gascon called Uber's background check "completely worthless."

The company has declined comment on many issues surrounding the Houston incident, but has repeatedly said it stands by its safety standards.

"We'll continue innovating, refining, and working diligently to ensure we're doing everything we can to make Uber the safest experience on the road," the company says on its website.

Christensen isn't convinced. As the company expands to more cities worldwide, she said, she believes the problem will only get worse until public perception turns.

"The problem is people like the service, so the word is not getting out," Christensen said.

Fingerprint system

No reliable national or local figures are available to assess whether crimes against passengers are more common in trips provided by Uber and its competitors than in conventional taxis and limousines. Most cities do not break down whether sexual abuse or assault occurs in a private vehicle or one for hire.

Alleged assaults by Uber drivers, however, receive far greater media attention than accusations against cab drivers. In the past year, drivers in San Francisco, Washington, Boston, Chicago, Orlando and Philadelphia have been accused of inappropriately touching riders or molesting them. Many of the incidents have a similar pattern, where the rider is alone and the driver takes advantage of them while they are inebriated, asleep or in a vulnerable position such as on a freeway where escape is unlikely.

Not all of the accusations have led to charges. Authorities in Chicago last week dropped charges against a driver accused of touching a female passenger while she was drunk after audio surfaced proving the woman was coherent and talking to the driver when the incident took place.

In all of the reported cases, according to media accounts, the company has immediately suspended the driver from operating on the system once the allegations surface. In Houston, Burton was removed from the system April 2 when Uber learned of his arrest related to the alleged Jan. 27 sexual assault.

Uber officials have not responded to multiple inquiries about how Burton was able to drive for Uber even though he lacked a city permit and had been released from federal prison in 2012 after serving 14 years for conspiracy to distribute cocaine. His recent prison term would have barred him for obtaining a city permit, Houston officials said, although he could appeal.

Four Houston Uber drivers interviewed last week said Burton's crimes reflected badly on the entire local operation. All have valid permits to operate in the city, and three of the four also have the proper permit to pick up and drop off riders at Houston's two airports. All requested anonymity, saying they feared they would be dropped from Uber's system if they were identified.

The four agreed that some drivers do not obey the rules and the city should have a role in determining who gets to drive.

"I wouldn't put my teenage daughter in a car with some of these guys," one driver said.

The same driver said he had no issue with the fingerprint-based background check requirement imposed by the city, saying it was probably the best way to weed out criminals.

"Do I like going to the courthouse and getting a warrant check? No," he said. "But I understand."

Riders' responsibility

But the drivers said passengers need to accept a measure of responsibility as well. Two of the drivers said passengers routinely tell them they cancel trips until they find a driver whose profile they are comfortable with. Women traveling late at night are especially vigilant, one driver observed.

Moreover, Houston's capacity to enforce its standards is limited. The city's regulatory affairs department has five inspectors and one supervisor who enforce rules on taxis, shuttles and transportation network companies such as Uber, said Lara Cottingham, deputy assistant director in the city's Regulatory Affairs Department.

Cottingham said the city is hiring an additional five inspectors and a supervisor as soon as possible because of the increased demand caused by Uber. The positions are funded in part by the permit and license fees associated with the new drivers.

Even a staff of 12 inspectors means the companies will have to be proactive to get drivers to comply. Supporters and skeptics differ on the level of Uber's interest in providing safety versus making a profit.

Complicating matters is that technology companies, and the business world in general, tend to move faster than government agencies. Uber, through word of mouth and aggressive marketing, can get up and running in a city in a matter of days. Houston officials took more than a year to craft regulations making it possible for the company to ferry passengers legally in Houston.

Griffith, the Boston law professor, said the marketplace and public sentiment will play a major role in determining the rules.

"What might happen is the public demands greater regulation to ensure safety, but they are going to have to pay for it," Griffith said.

The next few years will likely be pivotal, she said. Governments will set a standard and the companies will have to meet public demand for a safe trip. In Houston, that might take more than Uber hitting the streets.

"You might find competition between different ride-service companies," Griffith said. "One company might say they are going to have greater safety practices."

AGENDA ITEM DESCRIPTION: Ordinance – Amending Chapter 126, Vehicles for Hire
Consideration of an ordinance of the City Council of the City of Bryan, Texas, amending Chapter 126, “Vehicles for Hire” of the City of Bryan Code of Ordinances by revising Article II, “Horse-Drawn Carriages”; revising Article III “Taxicabs” and adding Division 5, “Transportation Network Companies”; revising Article V “Pedicabs”; providing for publication; providing for a penalty; and providing an effective date.
SUMMARY STATEMENT: Chapter 126, Vehicles for Hire in the City of Bryan Code of Ordinances, currently regulates taxi services, horse-drawn carriages and pedicabs within the City limits of Bryan. Recently, in cities across the nation, transportation network companies have begun to operate and have grown in popularity. Currently the transportation network company, Uber, is operating in the Bryan-College Station area. Like many other municipalities, the City’s current vehicle for hire ordinance does not address these types of companies. To ensure the public safety of citizens and fair treatment to all vehicle for hire businesses, the City needs to update its regulations to address the advent of transportation network companies operating in the community.
A transportation network company (TNC) is a company that enables passengers to request a vehicle for hire and enables drivers to accept those fares over a digital platform. These types of companies are different from traditional taxi service companies in that the transportation network company does not own or maintain the vehicles that transport passengers; the TNC operates and maintains a digital platform that facilitates communication between the passenger and driver. More traditional taxi services are locally owned and operated companies, who own and maintain a fleet of vehicles, and do not operate solely via a digital platform.
The proposed amendment requires a TNC to be permitted through the City and would require TNC’s adhere to the following:
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Pay a Fee- Companies would pay a fee based on the number of drivers operating in the City. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 10 or less - $300.00</li> <li>• 11 to 40 - $600.00</li> <li>• 41-70 - $900.00</li> <li>• 71 or more - $1,200.00</li> </ul> </li> <li>2. Insurance - In addition to each individual driver being required to maintain liability insurance in compliance with State law, the TNC must provide insurance that carries $1,000,000.00 per incident coverage for accidents involving a driver while performing TNC services, does not have an aggregate policy limit, and covers claims regardless of whether a driver maintains insurance adequate to cover any portion of a claim.</li> <li>3. Background Checks- The TNC must provide the City with the results of nationwide background check, including</li> </ol> but not limited to sex offender registry, for each driver covering the prior seven (7) years. The proposed ordinance recommends other vehicle for hire drivers (such as taxi drivers) background checks be lowered from ten (10) years to seven (7) years to be fair and consistent. All drivers, regardless of platform, will still be required to submit an acceptable three-year driving record.

TNC Drivers would be required to adhere to the following:

1. Be a least 21 years of age
2. Have a valid ID, vehicle registration, and automobile insurance
3. Obtain an annual State inspection
4. Comply with TNC operation rules (their TNC privileges have not been revoked by the TNC)
5. Pass background and driving history checks
6. While operating TNC drivers are subject to the same restrictions as the City's current taxi service: no accepting street hails, no cruising, no overcrowding and must travel by the most expedient route (unless otherwise directed by the passenger). In addition drivers may not drive more than 12 hours in a 24-hour period.
7. Signage- Drivers will also be required to have removable signage displayed when they are operating as a TNC driver, in lettering not less than 2 ½ inches in height, including company name and website address.

The app a TNC operates and maintains will also have to meet certain requirements. The app must state the fare prior to the passenger accepting the fare, drivers may not "assist" passengers with app (for example, drivers may not accept the fare on behalf of the passenger) and the app must provide a receipt.

The ordinance would also make a number of changes to the current provisions regulating taxis, horse drawn carriages, and pedicabs to ensure equal and fair treatment and provide some needed updates to the ordinance, which is outdated:

1. The time period of background checks would reduce from ten (10) years to seven (7) years, for all vehicle for hire service owners and drivers. The police chief has indicated his approval of this change. Seven (7) years is industry standard across the nation.
2. The definition of a "crime of moral turpitude" is being modified to include the offenses of evading police and maintaining financial responsibility (i.e. failure to maintain auto liability insurance) to be consistent with current State law.
3. The language for appeal provisions for revocations and suspensions is being modified to be consistent for all service provider types.
4. A reinstatement fee for late renewal applications received after December 31st will be charged to all services and drivers.
  - Horse Drawn Carriages - $25.00 per carriage.
  - Taxi Services - $50.00 per vehicle, Taxi Drivers - $25.00.
  - TNCs - $50.00 per driver.
  - Pedicabs - $50.00 per pedicab, Pedicab Drivers $25.00.

This late fee is recommended to encourage compliance with the time period for annual permits issued by the City, which all expire on December 31 of each year. It is important that everyone timely renew their permits to ensure passengers and drivers are protected, insurance requirements are up to date and in effect, etc.

5. Insurance requirements are being updated to reflect State requirements of $30,000 for bodily injury or death per person, $60,000 for bodily injury or death per accident, and $25,000 for property damage, and additional coverage for personal injury protection in the amount of $5,000 (more than the State law requirement but consistent with the City of College Station ordinance).
6. Taxis currently cannot charge extra for service animals for disabled passengers (federal law). It is proposed that police and military canines be transported without charge. This proposal will apply to TNC's and taxis.
7. Fire extinguishers will no longer be required in vehicles. The Fire Marshal has approved this change.

There are no recommended changes to the fees currently paid by taxi company owners, taxi drivers, pedicab owners and drivers, or horse drawn carriages (other than the recommendation for a late fee after December 31).

City staff has reviewed TNC ordinances adopted by other cities to regulate such companies as Uber and Lyft. City staff also met with representatives of Uber to discuss their operation in the community and the need for a local ordinance to regulate their operation in the City of Bryan. Uber certainly understands the need for a local ordinance and have indicated their desire to work with the City under the proposed regulations.

On February 18, 2015, City staff from the Police Department, City Secretary's Office and Legal Department met with several taxi service owners and drivers to present them with the proposed TNC regulations and other changes to the vehicle for hire regulations and to hear their feedback and concerns. In the course of the discussion the TNC signage issue was pointed out, and staff agreed that it should be added to the ordinance. Both parties agreed it was desirable to have a local ordinance adopted in order for the City to be able to address any issues with TNC's or TNC drivers, and to update and modernize the other vehicle for hire provisions.

STAFF ANALYSIS AND RECOMMENDATION: Staff recommends approving the proposed amendments and additions to the Bryan Code of Ordinances to add regulations for transportation network companies. The proposed regulations will allow the City to better ensure public safety for all citizens utilizing vehicle for hire services and fair treatment for all vehicle for hire businesses. As discussed with the taxi drivers and owners present at the meeting with staff on February 18, having an ordinance that regulates TNC's will allow the City, through assistance and feedback from vehicle for hire operators/drivers, to begin regulating a service that is currently unregulated and to identify any areas of the ordinance that should be amended. The ordinance addresses the Council's strategic initiatives of public safety and quality of life.

OPTIONS (In Suggested Order of Staff Preference):

1. Approve the proposed ordinance.
2. Provide direction to change the proposed ordinance.
3. Do not approve the ordinance and provide direction to staff.

Sec. 126-141. Requirements for TNC services.

Holders of TNC certificates shall meet the following requirements.

- (a) The TNC must require all drivers to:

  - (2) Does not have an aggregate policy limit; and
  - (3) Covers claims regardless of whether a driver maintains insurance adequate to cover any portion of a claim.

The TNC shall continually maintain insurance coverage for as long as the certificate is valid. If the insurance lapses, is canceled, or is non-renewed and evidence of new insurance is not provided before the cancellation date, the TNC certificate shall be automatically revoked. It is the responsibility of the TNC to comply with the requirements of this section and mistakes or delays by the insurance company shall not excuse compliance.

- (c) The TNC must conduct a local and national criminal background check that shall include the Multi-State/Juris Criminal Records Locator, or other similar commercial nationwide database acceptable to the city with validation (i.e. primary source search), and the National Sex Offender Public Registry database as well as a three (3) year driving history record for each potential driver before the driver is allowed to perform TNC services. The results of the background check for each driver registered with the TNC to provide services within the city must be provided to the city with the application for the TNC certificate. In the case of drivers who register with the TNC to provide services after the application has been filed, background checks must be submitted to the city before the driver is permitted to perform TNC services.

For the purposes of this provision, in addition to the periods when a driver has accepted a fare, a driver is assumed to be driving continuously if it has been less than one (1) hour between fares.
  - (f) The TNC shall post rates (and other charges) on its digital platform in a manner readily accessible to passengers prior to the TNC service being booked. The TNC may not permit drivers to charge or collect a rate higher than the one specified on the digital platform. Passengers must be able to request receipts via email or other electronic format.
  - (g) All requests for service must be placed and accepted only through the digital platform. The TNC may not permit its drivers to accept street hails. Passengers must place their own requests for service, and TNC drivers must be prohibited from placing requests for service on a potential passenger's behalf. The TNC digital platform must permit riders to view an accurate picture of the driver, an accurate picture or description of the vehicle, and the license plate number of the vehicle which accepts the fare.
  - (h) TNC drivers must take the most direct, expeditious, and safe route unless specifically requested by the passenger.

TNC may not impose additional charges for service animals for police, military, or for people with disabilities.
  - (j) Every TNC vehicle shall be periodically inspected by the TNC, or a third party at its request, at such intervals as shall ensure the continued maintenance of safe operating conditions. Upon such inspection, if it is found that the vehicle does not meet safe operating requirements, the TNC shall cause the vehicle (and/or driver) to be removed from service until such time as the vehicle is in compliance with such requirements.
  - (k) It shall be unlawful for a TNC driver to overcrowd the vehicle. It shall be unlawful for a TNC driver to cruise within the city.
  - (l) When operating a vehicle for a TNC, which includes going to pick up, transporting, and dropping off passengers, the vehicle shall be identified as a TNC vehicle in lettering not less than 2 ½ inches in height, including the company name and website. The identification may be temporary, but must be affixed in a manner that cannot be removed by the driver from inside the vehicle (e.g. a door magnet located on the passenger side door).
  - (m) In addition to any other requirements imposed by this division, state, or federal law, the TNC must require that each vehicle
    - (1) has a manufacturer's rated seating capacity of less than ten (10) persons, including the driver;
    - (2) has at least three (3) doors; and
    - (3) has not been designated, classified, or found to be "salvage", "rebuilt", "junk", or "total loss", or any equivalent classification in any jurisdiction.
  - (n) Upon receiving a complaint that a TNC driver or vehicle is not in compliance with, or has violated, any of the above standards, the TNC shall immediately suspend the driver's access to the TNC's digital platform and conduct an investigation (or have a third party do same). The results of the investigation, as well as the TNC's recommendation as to the consequence, shall be submitted to the chief of police who has ten (10) days to approve, reverse, or modify the recommendation. If the complaint is found to be true, the TNC shall revoke the driver's access to the digital platform. If the violation can be cured (e.g. failure to obtain a state inspection) the revocation can be temporary, (e.g. 30 days or until cured). If the complaint is found to be false, the driver's access to the digital platform shall be reinstated.

Sec. 126-142. Application for certificate.

- (a) An application for a certificate shall be on a form furnished by the city secretary. It shall include documentary proof of meeting the requirements of this division (i.e. insurance, driver policies, etc.). The application expires if the applicant has not completed the process and provided all the documentation required by the city within ninety (90) days following the first submittal to the city, unless the chief of police grants an extension of that deadline, for good cause.
- (b) The application shall require the following:
  - (1) Business name, address, and any established place of business within this state;
  - (2) Proof of registration with the Secretary of State for permission to do business in Texas;

  - (5) A copy of the results of background checks for drivers authorized to provide services for the TNC through its digital platform; and
  - (6) A copy of the drug and alcohol testing policies of the TNC, if any.
- (c) Each application shall be accompanied by a nonrefundable certificate fee to defray the expense of carrying out the provisions of this division. The fee is based on the number of drivers authorized to provide services through the TNC's digital platform within the city as of the time of the application and is equal to: 1) $300.00 for ten (10) or fewer drivers; 2) $600.00 for eleven (11) to forty (40) drivers; 3) $900.00 for forty-one (41) to seventy (70) drivers; 4) or $1,200.00 for seventy-one (71) or more drivers.

- (c) If the TNC disagrees with the decision of the chief of police, the TNC may file a written request for an appeal with the city secretary, which also states the legal or factual basis for the appeal, within five (5) business days of the chief of police's decision. The city manager, or his or her designee, will hear the appeal within twenty (20) business days. The suspension or revocation shall remain in force until the city manager, or his or her designee, issues a decision upholding, reversing, or modifying the chief of police's decision.

- (d) If a revocation is upheld, or if no appeal is timely filed, the TNC is ineligible to obtain a certificate for two (2) calendar years from the date of the chief of police's decision. This ineligibility is applicable to parent companies, subsidiaries, or successors of the TNC.
